

why should the federal government weaken a law that has been successful in protecting the citizens of NJ from unwanted telephone soliciting? Could it be for the interest of commercial business, instead of private individuals' needs?? What a surprise!